WORK[®]

Store, arrange and transport—often it's hard to find the right place for small, everyday items in particular. The Cox Work[®] utensils box, designed by Naber, is a practical and easy-to-manage organizational tool. It can be used to store or transport things you use frequently or like to keep to hand. Everything is at your fingertips—whether it's for creative hobby crafts, kitchen storage or gardening tools. With Cox Work[®], you can organize your utensils at home and in the workplace, just as you need them—in a way that's manageable and original.

Compatibility

With the Cox Work® utensils box, Naber has made an addition to its series of intelligent solutions for waste separation systems. Based on the standard 230 × 382-millimeter size, the utensils box can be integrated seamlessly into the 13, 16 and 22-liter Cox containers. Thus, for example, dish brushes, cleaning products, tabs or cloths can be kept to hand in a drawer. Everything is perfectly arranged and remains out of sight until it is needed.

- 1 Everything is close to hand
- 2 Fits perfectly into Naber's Cox container system
- 3 Can be stored out of sight in a drawer

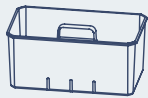

Features

The inner compartments can be divided up flexibly. Thus there are various possibilities for organization, making the most of the storage space. Cox Work® is available in three sets: BOX contains the utensils box. SET 1 also contains a small-parts box, which enables an organized overview and can also be used outside of the box. SET 2 contains additional dividers, two V-shaped and two U-shaped, which can be used flexibly as required. The V-dividers boast practical rubber holders. The sets are available in matching color combinations, but the individual components are also available in a choice of colors, so they can be assembled as Mix & Match.
