Customisable waste separation systems for the kitchen WESCO® at the interzum 2025

The high-quality built-in waste collectors from the traditional brand WESCO® are now available again. In spring 2024, Naber, one of Europe's largest kitchen accessories suppliers, acquired the trademark rights. At the interzum 2025, the special quality promise of the waste separation systems will be in the spotlight. From 20 to 23 May in Cologne, Naber will demonstrate how functionality and aesthetics are skilfully combined in several highly flexible product lines.

Amidst contemporary solutions for living and working, the built-in waste collectors from WESCO® will have their first appearance in front of an international trade audience since Naber took over and started further developing the brand. The durable and therefore sustainable product lines can be adapted to the wishes of the furniture industry – an offer that highlights Naber's special expertise in the waste collector segment.

Robust container combinations can be realised in various cabinet widths, for existing frame systems and existing pull-outs, making optimum use of storage space and simplifying domestic waste management. The WESCO® system with fully extendable runners for damped self-closing is also suitable for all standard cabinet widths. The range includes universal solutions for revolving doors which do not obstruct and which protect the furniture.

All the product lines of the WESCO® built-in waste collectors have proven their worth over many years in the everyday lives of kitchen users and offer first-class user convenience. The kitchen accessories experts from Naber will be presenting them in Hall 7.1 of the interzum at Stand A010. Here they will explain interesting product details, discuss service aspects and show the possibilities of serial customised
